Week 1 Term 3

18th July 2023

Welcome back to Term 3! I hope you all had a well-deserved, restful break and are back ready for this term.

Staff Development Day

Yesterday our staff were the students and were revising the importance of place value and deepening our knowledge by exploring evidence-based mathematical practices and research. This term we are hoping to showcase examples of classroom practices and students' mathematical thinking in our newsletter.

We also went through the draft plan for NSW public education. The draft plan has been informed by evidence and insights from teachers, school staff, education partners, parents and students across NSW. The department is seeking feedback on the draft plan and hearing your voice is critical to them. I will be sharing the plan at the P&C meeting in week 3 and the West Wyalong Aboriginal Education Consultive Group (WWAECG) in week 5.

Sustainability

This term students will be learning about sustainability as our cross-curricular unit. Teaching cross-curricular units, allows students to broaden their lens of understanding and apply skills they learn to deepen their overall understanding and make authentic, real-world connections. Cross-curricular teaching also allows students the opportunity to learn skills in different contexts.

Year 3-6 will be focusing on the book 'One Small Island', a beautiful, award-winning picture book by much-loved children's book creators Alison Lester and Coral Tulloch about the remote and precious World Heritage site, Macquarie Island, and the battle to save it from environmental destruction.

I look forward to sharing our students' knowledge of sustainability this term.

Best of Luck to our Netball & Basketball team
